

CPRA Facts & History

Updated 2025

The Central Plains Rodeo Association was established in 1992.

The CPRA has sanctioned rodeos in the four states of Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Nebraska.

The CPRA membership has ranged from 250-350 rodeo contestants, contractors, and committee members.

The CPRA is a non-profit association; all money collected for sanctions and membership fees is used to put on the CPRA Finals, buy awards for the champions, and for office expenses.
